The Eaton leadership model expands on the expectations of leaders in 4 critical dimensions and 14 leadership competencies. The specific skills, knowledge, and behaviors needed to meet these expectations.

I'm often asked: is there such thing as a leadership test or some kind of assessment to determine how good a leader someone is? While there's no single silver bullet for assessing leadership capability, at least I don't think there's no matter what the assessments salespeople try.

I am passionate about people developing to become all they can be following a rewarding senior executive career over a period of 25 years in telecoms and FMCG, e.g., member of the executive committee of a FTSE 10 company in the UK as group human resources director. I am currently enjoying a portfolio career, using team assessments to uncover performance issues. So how do you tell if your team is working the way it's supposed to? You may instinctively feel that some element of teamwork is missing or sense that you could get even better team performance if you spent time on team working activities.
